WARFIELD PLAN GETS APPROVAL

Rail Labor Leaders See Step to Federal Control.

WARFIELD HEAD OF SECURITY HOLDERS

Would Have Federal Body in Charge of Properties.

Officials of Plumb Plan League Voice Sentiment That Private Control of the Railroads Has Broken Down.

Washington, March 22 —Leaders of railroad labor who have long advocated government ownership and control of the roads, look upon the Warfield plan" as a big forward step toward the end of private control of the nation's carriers.

The proposals of Warfield, who is head of the Association of Railroad Security holders, would virtually place the control of the roads in the hands of a governmental super-governing body Labor leaders view his plan as the first move on the part of those in the owning class to take the operation of the roads away from those now in control

"I have been unable to ascertain what plan Warfield has for dealing with labor" said William M Clark, representing the Brotherhood of Railway conductors today "But the plan as outlined appears to be a distinct move toward the end of private control"

Officials of the Plumb Plan league, who have conducted persistent propaganda in favor of government ownership voiced similar sentiments. They said the Warfield statement was a frank admission that private ownership and control have broken down.

Remain Silent.

The Association of Railway executives and Senator Cummins, Republican, of Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee refused to be brought into a discussion of the railroad control plan advocated by the security holders. It is known that the executives have contended that the Esch-Cummins bill should be given further opportunity to demonstrate its value before being revised.

Edward Keating, of the Plumb Plan league, said the deficit in operation accumulated by the roads during the six months following federal control, which was paid out of the federal treasury, was almost as great as the deficit in operation for the twenty-six months of federal control

"This further demonstrates that private ownership has broken down," Keating said.

Takes the Stand.

Chicago, March 22.—General W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad and labor committee chairman of the American Association of Railway executives, took the stand, again today, in the

PROPAGANDA FOR GERMANS

Officials Busy Framing the Public Opinion.

VASTNESS OF SUM DEMANDED BY ALLIES

Shown by Numerous Illustrations in Pamphlets.

Officials Seek To Prove to the German Mind That Indemnity Asked of the Germans Is Impossible of Payment.

Paris, March 22 —Germany's note, announcing that she could not comply with allies' demands for 1 000,000,000 gold marks by March 25, was placed in the hands of the inter-allied reparations commission, this afternoon The Germans suggested a conference of experts to consider the matter The commission has taken no action, but will meet tomorrow

(The German note rejecting the allied ultimatum was despatched from Berlin, yesterday afternoon, as announced exclusively in an International News service cablegram from Berlin, Monday.)

Busy with Propa.

Berlin March 22 —Official German propagandists are laboring to bring home to the average German citizen the real vastness of the sum of indemnity demanded by the allies—226,000 000,000 gold marks The people at large have not shown any undue excitement over the extent of the allies' demands, so the German officials decided upon a campaign to picture to them how much 226,000,000,000 gold marks—56,500,000,000—means in reality

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung printed a picture of nineteen railroad trains, each made up of cars filled with coal and each train stretching from earth to moon. Under the picture, was the following reading matter:

"A ton of coal is worth twenty gold marks This means that if we were to deliver 226,000,000,000 gold marks' worth of coal we would have to mine more than 11,300,000,000 tons of coal, which at the 1920 production rate in Germany, would require eighty-seven years. This amount of coal would require 750,000,000 railway cars, or, in other words a train so long that it could be broken up into nineteen trains, each one long enough to reach from this planet to the moon"

In Paper Marks

The Hamburger Neuste Nachrichten declares that if 226,000,000,000 gold marks were reduced to the value of the present paper mark it would equal 2,428 000 000,000 paper marks This same paper gave another example, as follows.

"Since the birth of Jesus Christ 60 549 200 000 seconds of time have elapsed Therefore, Germany must pay for every second that has elapsed since the birth of Christ, the sum of three and one-half marks—and in forty-two years, at that"

—"If Germany were to pay in paper money how long would it take to print it?" asks the pamphlet

This pamphlet was put out to convince the people that the allies' demand was not only wrong but impossible of fulfillment

"The present machines used in printing money print two bills at one operation," said the pamphlet "Each note requires ten printing operations and a machine delivers about 6,000 notes a day At this rate it would take a single press 100 000 years to print enough money to pay indemnity in German currency Or, if it must be paid in forty-two years, more than 2 000 printing presses would have to be employed"

OHIO MEASURES BEFORE HOUSE

Scheduled for Action by Solons Today.

COMPENSATION FOR BUCKEYE WORKMEN

New Protective Bill Being Given Attention.

A Measure To Control Rents Introduced by McCoy, of Adams County—Senate Reorganization Committee Busy.

Columbus, March 22 —The house is expected, this afternoon, to pass the Dunn bill, providing for carrying on Americanization work, the Wagner bill, amending the workmen's compensation act so as to provide compensation in cases of deaths, or injuries, due to occupational diseases, and the Silver Hills, relative to creation of forest preserves

The senate, today, is scheduled to vote on the question of passing the Kruder bill raising the amount of butterfat required in ice-cream.

An anti-profiteering bill has been introduced by Representative McCoy, Adams county, author of the bill seeking to prevent exhibition of motion-pictures containing scenes of felonious crimes.

The new measure seeks to prevent the charging of "unlawful and unreasonable" rents. An annual rental exceeding fifteen per cent. of the value of a residence is considered an unreasonable charge, unless proven otherwise. The value of property is to be determined by the courts, on the basis of original cost, cost of permanent improvements, present market value and rentals charged during the last three years

The bill decrees that it is illegal to combine, or conspire, to create a fictitious demand for houses in order to boost rents, or to prevent competition. A sixty-day notice must be given in writing before rent is increased.

A bill, introduced by Representative Silver, chairman of the house committee on agriculture, provides for the purchase of forty-five acres of land, to the east, to be added to the state fairgrounds, for $250,000.

Public Hearing.

The senate reorganization committee plans a public hearing tomorrow morning on the public

LAUNCHING OF A GREAT SHIP

Superdreadnaught, Colorado, in the Water.

LAUNCHING TAKES PLACE AT CAMDEN

Denver Woman Christens New Sea Fighter.

Colorado Is Second of World's Greatest Battleships in Service of the United States. Two Others Are Coming

Camden, New Jersey, March 22 — The United States added the second of the world's greatest battleships to her fleet today with the launching here of the superdreadnaught Colorado, at the New York shipbuilding yards into the waters of the Delaware river

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy and third of his family to officiate at the launching of an American warship, gave the signal which sent the giant craft on its journey down the ways and Mrs Max Melville of Denver Colorado, broke a bottle of champagne over the bow and gave the ship its name

In size and power, the Colorado is surpassed by no battleship afloat and is equalled by only one other battleship, her sister ship Maryland, launched at Newport News, in March, 1920. Two other ships of the same class the Washington and West Virginia, are now under construction

The chief characteristics of the Colorado are.

Displacement, 32,600 tons; length, 624 feet; speed, twenty-one knots, main battery, eight sixteen-inch guns; secondary battery, fourteen five-inch guns and four three-inch anti-aircraft guns; two submerged torpedo tubes and enlisted complement, 1,448 men.

The nearest rivals of the Colorado and her sister ship are the Japanese battleships of the Nagato class and the British ships of the Queen Elizabeth class. The Nagato class ships, of which there are three have a displacement of 29,000 tons, while the ships of the Queen Elizabeth type, of which there are five have a displacement of only 27 500 tons Both the Nagato and the Queen Elizabeth are armed with fifteen-inch guns While Great Britain has no battleship at present equal to the Colorado in all-round equipment, she possesses one battleship which is larger, the Hood, which is the largest battleship now afloat

The American battle cruiser, Constellation, the keel of which was laid in August, 1920, will be 874 feet long and of 43,500 tons displacement and will have a speed of 32 25 knots and an armament of eight sixteen-inch guns.

Not a Battleship.

Though the Hood at first glance appears to be more formidable than the Colorado, she is not a battleship, but a battle cruiser and aside from her weaker gun power, her armor is scarcely one-third the thickness of that which protects the Colorado.

In addition to the six battle cruisers of the Constellation class, the naval bill of 1916 authorized six battleships of even greater size and power than the Colorado type They are the Iowa, South Dakota, Montana, North Carolina, Indiana and Massachusetts. Contracts have been let for all of these except the Massachusetts and the keels of the Iowa, South Dakota and Montana have been laid. These battleships will have a length of 684 feet, a displacement of 43,200 tons and a main battery of twelve sixteen-inch guns. They are believed to be the most powerful fighting ships contemplated by any nation at present.

According to the best information available in navy circles, Great Britain now has twenty-six first-line battleships, of a total tonnage of 625,450; the United States has sixteen, of a total tonnage of 435,756, and Japan has six, totalling 178,320 tons. The United States however, has under construction eleven others, of a total tonnage of 421,900, while Japan is known to be building seven others, totalling 241,400 tons.

Including warships of all classes, Great Britain now has 717 vessels, totalling 3,612,146 tons, with thirty-six others building, a combined tonnage of 76,890; the United States has 412 ships, totalling 1,181,934 tons, while Japan has seventy-five ships, totalling 485,252 tons, with thirty-nine under construction, of a total tonnage of 649,910, and forty others under construction, the tonnage of which is not known

A BOLD FRONT IS NECESSARY

To Prestige of Viscount Uchida in Japan.

UCHIDA TALKS FOR HOME CONSUMPTION

It Not Believed Sincere in His Declaration Regarding Japs Holding Isle of Yap.

Tokio, March 22.—The declarations made by Viscount Uchida, foreign minister, to committees of the diet, that Japan will "stand pat" on her mandate for the island of Yap, are regarded here as being chiefly for home consumption.

It is known here that Viscount Uchida, for political reasons, must maintain a bold front against his strong antagonists in the diet, who are making some level with which to overthrow the ministry.

So far, the ministry has been able to withstand all of the assaults of those seeking to destroy it and Viscount Uchida is anxious to maintain this advantageous position until the diet meetings come to a close, March 29.

It is believed here that following the close of the diet, Yap negotiations will go forward with the United States with greater celerity and with an excellent chance for favorable settlement of the American claims to the little Pacific island.

This view is also taken by the press The Kokomin, a leading paper, today carried an editorial proclaiming, "Yap is lost."

NEW SCHEDULE OF RATES IN COLUMBUS

Price Consumers Must Pay for Gas in Future.

Columbus, March 22 —Council has decreed that, effective July 12, next, Columbus domestic consumers shall pay forty-five cents for 1,000 cubic feet of gas for the first 10,000 feet, fifty-five cents a thousand for the second 10,000 feet and sixty-five cents a thousand for all over 20,000 feet of gas consumed in any one month. This new schedule is to continue in force for three years.

The present rate is thirty cents, net, per 1,000 feet, regardless of the amount consumed.

Has a Preference.

New York, March 22.—When Kate Tedford Hickie was arraigned before Judge MacIntyre in general sessions court on the charge of criminal libel, the court announced that as she had no attorney present, one would be assigned for her and asked if she had any preference. "Yes, I would like Charles Evans Hughes," replied the defendant.

PREPARE FOR AN EASTER RISING

British Military Authorities Are on Move.

EXPECT TROUBLES WITH SINN FEINERS

One Officer and Six Soldiers Killed in a Battle in County Kerry.

Dublin, March 22 —The British military authorities in Ireland, today, began precautionary measures to cope with an Easter rising by the Sinn Fein, on the anniversary of the Dublin revolt Soldiers were ordered to erect barbed-wire entanglements and barricades at strategic points in various cities where the Sinn Fein spirit is strong and militant. It is probable that a military proclamation will be issued warning the people to remain calm and ordering them to remain indoors, from Saturday night until Monday morning

One officer and six soldiers were killed and twelve were wounded when republicans attacked a train near Bradford Junction, in County Kerry, it was officially announced by Dublin castle One civilian was killed and two were wounded by flying bullets. The fight lasted nearly an hour

Shot to Death.

Dublin, March 22 — Thirty-five men have been shot to death in Irish disorders, since Saturday, it was revealed today. It is believed, however that this list is incomplete, as some of the casualties have been hidden. The casualty list, up until noon, follows:

	Killed.	Wounded.
Soldiers	18	23
Policemen	7	5
Republicans	9	7

In addition to the foregoing, the Sinn Feiners executed one man as a spy.

Issues Her Fate.

Trenton, New Jersey, March 22.—Pretty, seventeen-year-old Dorothy Miller, who wrote to the papers offering to marry any man who would give $1,000 for an operation to save her mother's life, is beginning to lose her faith in the power of the press. She said that not a single suitor has called and that her only male visitors were reporters. Some of the New York papers printed Dorothy's photograph, which should have helped a whole lot.

Fight to a Draw.

Columbus, March 22.—Although Jimmy Wells, of Newark, boxed Whitey Marlow, of this city, eight rounds to a draw, the majority of the spectators thought Wells was winner. Marlow performed best in the last three rounds. In the early rounds, Wells held considerable of a lead.

GERMAN PRESS IS REJOICING

Jubilant Over the Victory In Upper Silesia.

FEW DISSENTING NOTES ARE HEARD

Some Comment on the Attitude of France.

Hugo Stinnes Expresses Opinion That All of Upper Silesia Will Remain German Territory. Incidents of the Election.

Paris, March 22.—Upper Silesia will be partitioned, with the district containing rich coal deposits going to Poland, according to information in possession of the French office, today.

Upon the basis of the plebiscite received, it was decided that Upper Silesia would be divided by a line running from Rosenberg to Krappitz, thence southward along the Lausser river to Ratibor. All the land west of this line will be retained by Germany; the territory east of it will be annexed to Poland. The coal deposits are in the section east of the line.

Press Jubilant.

Berlin, March 22.—The German press was jubilant, today, over the victory over Poland in the Upper Silesian plebiscite. The only dissenting note came from Theodor Wolff, editor of the Berliner Tageblatt, who warned Germany that "France will disregard the outcome and attempt to present a consolation tidbit of German soil to Poland."

"The plebiscite was a victory for Prussian state consciousness," said the Deutsche Zeitung.

The Vossische Zeitung declared that Germany would do well to carry out the program of separating Upper Silesia from Prussia, adding:

"It is most important to adopt a program that will reconcile the Polish minorities in the province which has just been handed back to us".

Hugo Stinnes' newspaper, Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, in commenting upon the outcome, said;

"After this demonstration of the popular will it is to be taken for granted that all of Upper Silesia will remain German."

"Let us rejoice in this overwhelming victory, showing that Upper Silesia is overwhelmingly for Germany," said the conservative newspaper, Tageliche Rundschau.

A correspondent who has just returned from Upper Silesia said that many of the plebiscite policemen were seen drunk during the balloting, Sunday. At Nikolai, the Germans brought in many sick and aged persons to vote. They were carried in carriages, under police guard.

Firing was heard near Nikolai, giving rise to rumors that fighting had broken out, but it proved to be target practice by French troops with trench mortars and hand grenades.

Express Opinion.

Washington, March 22.—Polish officials here expressed the opinion that Poland might appeal to the council of ambassadors and to the league of nations from the result of the Upper Silesia plebiscite, should the official count be confirmatory of the German victory, unofficially reported from Berlin.

Should an appeal be made to the league of nations, it was said that an impartial tribunal might be asked to view the plebiscite. In such a case, it was suggested that a representative of the United States might be asked to serve, as was done by the league in the Aland islands dispute.

It became known that last November a request was made of the state department by the Polish government through the Polish legation here for the appointment by the United States of an American representative to observe the alleged illegal methods which, it was charged, Germany was resorting to in order to further her designs upon the territory.

In a note to the state department of November 5, 1920, the attention of the American government was called by the Polish government "to the powerful means of resistance and defense to defeat the purpose of the plebiscite" which the German government was organizing.

In a second note, in December, the Polish government furnished the state department with documentary evidence of the alleged illegal which it was claimed, the German government was practicing in the effort to

FORDNEY BILL IS SCHEDULED

For Immediate Passage in Extra Session.

MEASURE VETOED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Expected To Give Farmers and Others Relief.

Measure Will Be Displaced by Permanent Legislation Within Six Months or Less. Meeting an Emergency.

Washington, March 22.—The Fordney emergency tariff bill, precisely as vetoed by former President Wilson, will be rushed through congress as the first important legislation of the extra session.

Acceding to the request of President Harding fro passage of a measure designed to help the farmers asking for protection against foreign competition, Republican members of the house ways-and-means committee voted to revive the Fordney bill after agreeing almost unanimously a week ago not to consider any emergency legislation ahead of a permanent tariff and revenue revision.

Senator Penrose expressed the belief that the emergency measure would be in the hands of Mr. Harding within ten days after the convening of the special session April 11.

The new Fordney bill will be presented with a six months' limitation, but its provisions will expire at an earlier date should the permanent bill be enacted before expiration of the six months' period.

The house ways-and-means committee, at the end of an all-day wrangle, apparently was in the utmost harmony.

Other Bills.

After disposing of the emergency measure in the first few days of the extra session the house will take up and pass the anti-dumping bill, which will be followed by the allied measure fixing an American valuation on goods which must pay ad valorem duty.

Then will come the permanent tariff, which Republican leaders hope will be broad enough to satisfy all interests in all sections demanding an upward revision. The actual work of framing it will begin at once, hearings having been concluded at the last session.

While the house has been at work on the tariff, the senate finance committee will consider tariff revision and its printed hearing will be available to the ways and means committee, which will write the bill. In this way Fordney predicted the congress will work at high speed, in the hope of earning a summer recess. The house would be considering revenue while the tariff was still before the senate.

The president stepped into the fight when he telephoned Fordney suggesting that an emergency agricultural measure be enacted in advance of tariff or revenue legislation, and while there had been some indication of his attitude, the proposal took the committees off its feet.

NAVAL CIRCLES BUZZING TODAY

Rear Admiral Fiske Causes a Sensation.

BITTER CRITICISM OF SECRETARY DANIELS

Fiske Says Daniels Menaces Honor and Safety of Nation During World War.

Washington, March 22.—High naval circles were buzzing with excitement, today, over the language used by Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, retired, in expressing his opinion of the manner in which Josephus Daniels conducted the navy department during the war. Admiral Fiske expressed himself with unprecedeted force, in writing an introduction to Lieutenant Tracey Barrett Kittridge's "Naval Lessons of the Great War," which had been privately distributed to heads of departments.

Admiral Fiske bluntly calls the former secretary of the navy "unworthy" and flatly charges him with falsifying. The book is dedicated to Admiral William Sims and is generally looked upon in naval circles as Sims' explanation of his long and bitter controversy with Daniels.

"This book," wrote Admiral Fiske, "shows that the principal naval lesson of the war is the menace to the national honor and safety that was involved in committing the management of the navy to unworthy hands.

The secretary of the navy should be a man of highest order and ability knowledge and foresight. This book shows that Secretary Daniels was so far below the standard that the navy might have been caught wholly unprepared when we entered the war and would have been ineffective during the war if certain navy officers had not sacrificed or endangered their positions, by putting through important measures without his knowledge.

"The secretary of the navy should be a man of the highest character. This book shows that Secretary Daniels, both in writing over his official signature and in oral official testimony before congressional committees, made many statements about important naval matters with his cognizance, that were absolutely false."

REFUSES TO LIVE WITH HER HUSBAND

Declares Marriage Is Forbidden by Bible.

According to a leased wire to the Star from Minneapolis today, a Marion woman is one of the principals in a suit to determine whether the Bible forbids a wife from loving another man. The despatch says:

District court judges are to decide if the Bible forbids a woman to love a man, particularly if that man is her husband.

John A. Dunn, of this city, today asked the court to award him $10,000 as proof that the Bible contains no prohibition against marriage.

Through his attorney, Dunn, filed suit against four men, conducting the Bible Truth inn, who, Dunn asserts by their sermons, broke up his home. He alleges alienation of his wife's affections. Dunn charges that after his wife became a convert to the no-marriage creed, she failed to take proper care of their seventeen-year-old daughter, who died recently.

After Mrs. Dunn decided it was improper to be married, her husband said, she went to the home of her parents in Marion, Ohio, and his efforts to persuade her since that the Bible does not prohibit marriage have been futile.

Howard Otstott, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. left today for a week's vacation in Springfield. During the absence of Mr. Otstott, Carl Longshore will be assisted in this department by Lowell Dunithan, of Delaware.

Miss Theresa Ramouth, of Findlay, has returned home after a few days' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Steinmetz, of Bellevue avenue. Mr. Sloan is a student in the

FRANK YOUNG, RICHWOOD SCHOOL HEAD, IS DEAD

Dies in State Hospital for the Insane.

Richwood, O., March 22.—[Special.]—Frank Young, superintendent of schools of Richwood, who disappeared from his home here three weeks ago and a short time later was located in Xenia suffering from a nervous breakdown, died Monday night at the Columbus State hospital. The body will be brought here today for burial.

Mr. Young had been in failing health since last October and his condition was ascribed to overwork. Following a temporary suspension of school here in order to permit repairs on the building, Mr. Young disappeared from his home three weeks ago, as stated in the Star at the time.

A short time later the family received a telephone message from Judge Marshall, of Xenia, a former classmate of Mr. Young, informing them that the superintendent was in Xenia and in a serious condition as the result of a nervous breakdown. They were told that that Mr. Young had been in Columbus, Dayton and Yellow Springs.

Mr. Young was taken to a private sanitarium in Columbus and last Friday was adjudged insane and taken to the state hospital. Mrs. Young, who is also a teacher in the Richwood High school, is ill at her home. Besides the widow Mr. Young is survived by three children, Faith, Paul and Donald.

Mr. Young was born near Wilmington, Clinton county, forty-five years ago and had been superintendent of the Richwood schools for two years. He was a member of the Presbyterian church.

FOREIGN MATTERS ARE GIVEN ATTENTION

President and Cabinet Hold Important Meeting Today.

Washington, March 22.—A session of the Harding cabinet, which lasted for more than two hours today, was devoted almost entirely to consideration of foreign relations. It was the first time that the cabinet had considered foreign affairs to any great extent.

Secretary of State Hughes did most of the talking. It is understood that he took up the status of foreign relations in detail, country by country and painted a rapid sketch of each one for the benefit of the president and the cabinet.

The report of Secretary Hughes was supplemented by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who supplied considerable information concerning world trade conditions. Hoover also presented, it is understood, his views on the possibilities of trade with Russia, as outlined in his statement of yesterday. Hoover's views of the Russian situation is that her trade amounts to very little because she has nothing to export and very little money with which to pay for imports.

BIG FOUR WORKERS REFUSE REDUCTION

ATTERBURY IS FIRM IN STAND

Says Each Road Should Make Own Compact.

NATIONAL AGREEMENTS ARE NOT APPROVED

Claimed Agreements Are Prolific of Misunderstandings—Labor Board Hearing.

Chicago, March 22.—W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad and former chairman of the railway executives' labor committee, took an emphatic stand against national agreements, which he termed "prolific of misunderstandings," in a heated all-day cross-examination before the United States railroad labor board.

Questioning by Frank P. Walsh, counsel for the unions, brought vigorous replies from Atterbury, and time and again the witness replied by cross questioning his interrogator. Charges that the union leaders did not really represent the employes and that national rules were used to procure employment for more men and extract money from the railroads on technicalities were hurled across the table as Atterbury took a stand against all rules of national application.

The gist of Atterbury's testimony may be summarized thus: Rules should be negotiated between officials of the roads and their own employes, across the conference table. "like a game of poker"; the eight-hour day could not be universally applied to all employes, especially train service men, "because the Lord didn't build the railroads that way"; establishment of the hourly basis of shop work has destroyed the energy and initiative of shop employes and abolition of piecework would be the "most dreadful thing that could happen to railroad employes."

National rules constituted a dog collar around the necks of the railroads, which would be free to negotiate their own rules with their own employes "the minute the board cuts the dog collar."

Two charges against union officials were laid down by Atterbury in the climax of the testimony. He declared that although the national agreements had the object of employing more men, he was "a better friend of my men than any of the union men at this table."

General Atterbury read a statement which declared the American people had reached "the parting of the ways." "No more serious question confronts us today," he said. "One road leads to government ownership, nationalization, Plumb plan-ism and syndicalism; the other road to industrial peace and the continuation of that individual initiative, energy and responsibility, which is peculiarly American. The signboard on one road is 'national agreements;' on the other road 'negotiate directly with your own employes.'"

Why the Dry Cleaner is Busy at Easter Time

If there is one day more than any other on which a man wants to look his very best, it is Easter Sunday.

On the great spring festival, every one wants to dress up and join the style parade.

With clothing prices as high as they are, many feel that it is almost foolish to buy as many new clothes as in former years. And, anyway, last year's spring suit will look just exactly like a new one, if sent to this expert dry-cleaning establishment.

We are prepared to clean anything in wearing apparel or household articles on short notice.

TREASURY MAY BE HARD HIT

An Inheritance Tax Decision Holds Good.

MATTER IS TAKEN TO SUPREME COURT

Federal Court Holds Inheritance Taxes May Be Deducted from Income Taxes.

Washington, March 22.—"Great sums of money," will be lost to the United States treasury, if the decision of the United States court of claims that taxpayers may deduct all inheritance taxes from their taxable incomes, prevails, Solicitor General Frierson contended today in asking the Supreme court of the United States to advance to April 11 the government's appeal from the decision.

Hundreds of estates from which the government has collected taxes under protest are involved in the case in which the decision was made, although it involved but one estate directly. This was an estate of which Senator Underwood, of Alabama, Democratic minority leader, was one of the executors and to which $165,000 will alone have to be restored if the Supreme court of the United States upholds the decision of the lower court.

MR. W. G. SISSON FEELS PROUD TO TELL THE PEOPLE OF MARION WHAT NUXITE HAS DONE FOR HIM

I Was in a Miserable Condition and About as Badly Run Down as Any One Ever Gets To Be and Keep Going.

I could find nothing to help me until I got Nuxite and that is saying a good deal as I have been trying for some time to find a medicine to reach my trouble, said Mr. W. G. Sisson, boilermaker by trade, lives at 627 Sherman street, Marion, Ohio. I have been feeling pretty bad, but am getting back to my former condition again. My stomach was all upset. I seemed to bloat and gas would form, cause me to be nervous. Could not rest well at night. Short of breath, dizzy spells. I lost weight and was somewhat worried about my condition. My worse trouble—I had no energy or ambition to work. I read in the Marion papers where Nuxite entirely relieved a man who described his condition as being similar to mine, so I decided to try it myself and I am surely glad I did, for I am now feeling better than for years. I can eat anything I want at any time of the day or night. I never have any trouble afterward. I sleep well. I have more energy and ambition to work. After what Nuxite has done for me, I don't think I can praise it too highly. The Nuxite Mr. Sisson refers to is sold at Schmidt's Drug Store, and may be obtained at Kyles Drug Store, Richmond, Ohio.—Adv.

WARFIELD PLAN GETS APPROVAL

railroad exemption wage controversy and hammering home his point with mighty blows on a table, told the railroad board that the only possible peace on railroad matters lies in permitting men and officials to get together to negotiate their own rules and working conditions.

Attorney Walsh, representing the unions and General Atterbury were almost constantly clashing during the second day of the examination of the Pennsylvania officials. The first conflict came over the classification of employees for standardizing wages and conditions.

"It can't be done!" General Atterbury shouted. "I take it that the function of this board is to be quiet, not to foment trouble. You are not pouring oil on the waters, but are throwing rocks into it when you write rules that neither the men nor the officials can understand. The men and the officers must understand each other and the rules and then negotiate them."

Attorney Walsh switched to the apprentice question.

Is Restrictive.

"There is not a rule in the entire national agreement that is not restrictive of production," General Atterbury said, banging his fist on the table before him.

"Isn't that rather broad?" questioned Attorney Walsh.

"I won't take it back," General Atterbury said, shortly.

"That would be difficult," said Walsh. "But why won't you, is it just because you have said it once?"

"No," General Atterbury said "It's because I believe in it. I can find restriction of production in every single rule."

Attorney Walsh asked whether the fact that the Pennsylvania employes have never presented a grievance among the 178 cases pending before the board did not show that the national agreements are working.

"Absolutely not!" Atterbury replied. "There is not anything left for them to ask for. The rule maker down in Washington gave them every blessed thing they could ask for."

When B. M. Jewell, of the railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor, appears again before the board he will be examined by General Atterbury, it was announced today.

Paris, March 22.—Former Premier Clemenceau, who has just returned from a tiger hunting trip in India, refused today to comment upon the criticisms of himself, written by Robert Lansing, former American secretary of state and member of the American delegation to the peace conference. Mr. Lansing had said that M. Clemenceau was a cynical and domineering "sure."

"When anyone speaks ill of me that is all right. It is only when anyone speaks good of me that I begin to worry," he said.

Asked if he would reenter political life, the "Tiger" replied:

"I am Buddha; gods in India. They sat cross-legged not concerning themselves with the affairs of others. That is the policy I intend to pursue."

Paint Your House And Buildings

FOR ONE-HALF CENT A SQUARE FOOT PER COAT

That is what you can do with our Thrift Paint. Here is the story—An average size house is 24 by 30 feet and about 18 feet high. This gives you 1944 square feet of surface to be painted.

Three gallons of Thrift Paint (any color), three and one-half gallons of pure linseed oil, together with one-half gallon of turpentine, will give you a two-coat job that can not be surpassed for a fine high glossy finish at a cost of $17.91 or less than one cent per square foot for two-coat work.

This same cost per square foot applies to any house, regardless of size, and you are getting the best material that money can buy.

N. F. WELCH, ERIE AGENT AT GREEN CAMP, IS DEAD

Drops Dead While in Coal Bin at Home.

VILLAGE STATION MASTER FOR OVER THIRTY YEARS

Deacon and Treasurer of Baptist Church at Green Camp. Married in 1897.

Green Camp O., March 22.—[Special.]—Nathanial Fremont Welch, who for more than thirty years had been the Erie agent and operator at this place, was found dead in the coal bin of his home here about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, his death having been due to heart failure. He was sixty-two years of age.

Mr. Welch had not been well for some time, but was able to work and Monday afternoon returned home about 4:30 o'clock and went immediately to the basement to look after the furnace. A few minutes later Forest McDonald, a boy who makes his home at the Welch residence, went to the basement. As he did not see Mr. Welch at the furnace, and thinking he was hiding from him in play, the lad began looking and found him lying in the bin. At first the boy thought Mr. Welch was playing with him and he shook him, but, getting no response, gave the alarm.

Mr. Welch was born in Union county, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Welch. He was married in 1897 to Miss Edith Fields of Caledonia, who survives with their daughter, Esther, aged twenty-one years. Mr. Welch also leaves three sisters and one brother, Mrs. Henry Jackson, Mrs. Harve Elliott and Mrs. William Shirk, of Peoria, and Edmond Welch, of David Creek, California. Mr. Welch was a deacon and treasurer of the Baptist church here.

WEARS FILMY LINGERIE, BUT DONS SUMMER FURS

Miss Spring Turns Handspring for Weather Change.

Miss Vernal Equinox, alias Miss Spring, put on summer furs last night and today after celebrating her appearance under an umbrella yesterday.

But she continued to wear her filmy lingerie and refused to "take 'em off" just like hundreds of other Marionites did because they put 'em on to stay.

One thing is certain—and that is Old Man Winter has limped away to stay for a good long spell. He always did have a pretty strong breath and he may blow back in the direction of Miss Spring for pure meanness occasionally, but that is about as far as he can go.

Northern Lights were seen last night and these, some people might think, were caused by the gorgeously-brilliant outfit that Miss Spring wore as she made her debut. Anyhow, the lights were in evidence.

"PITTER PATTER" AT THE GRAND NEXT WEDNESDAY

The Original New York Cast headed by Ernest Truex.

The management of the Grand is pleased to announce to the public that it has secured for one day, March 30, the musical comedy, "Pitter Patter," with Ernest Truex, the most brilliant young star of this season.

"Pitter Patter" will present to Marion the original New York cast, headed by Ernest Truex, as well as the complete stage settings and costumes. "Pitter Patter" is playing this week in Pittsburgh, and next week breaks the jump to Detroit, then playing a week at the new Hanna theater, Cleveland, and will play the balance of the summer at the LaSalle, Chicago. It is unlikely that a musical comedy of the class of "Pitter Patter" has ever played this city and it is believed that it will be a notable event in theatrical affairs.—Adv.

The Worst Thing for "Baby Chicks" is Cold Wet Weather

A correct heat—pure fresh air without chilling—plenty of exercise—are the essential conditions necessary to successfully raise chicks. The experienced poultry man knows that the number of chicks which may be successfully raised in one flock depends absolutely upon these conditions, and to make them possible a relation exists between the size of the brooder; size of the house and the number of chicks.

The Newtown Oil Burning Brooder is put up in two sizes and meets all the conditions necessary to successfully rearing for young chicks.

Daily Proverb—"He that despises little things is not worthy of the great."

Can it be that indemnity agreements, also, are mere scraps of paper?

And all these months we have been laboring under the delusion that the bock beer signs were gone for all time.

Out in Kansas, a Non-Partisan league appears to be even less popular than the typical fat-man.

That girl out in Ardmore threatens to give her life to public service, but doesn't specify whether she means the stage or the movies.

If we get Mr. Hoover correctly, the American exporter who sells to Russia will be a twin brother to the fellow who holds the bag in a snipe hunt.

Since beer has become a medicine, we may now anticipate some glowing testimonials in the papers showing how this or that brew has not only prolonged life, but transformed age into youth.

It may be noted that former Secretary of State Lansing's esteem for the self-constituted reformer isn't exactly what one might term exalted.

Maybe the former kaiser is correct in stating that the league-of-nations idea was his. There's no getting away from the fact that he went in strong for a super-government.

All kinds of foodstuffs and wearing apparel have fallen off in price, but the man you hire to do a half day's work about the home still wants a dollar an hour.

If we get the situation correctly the French were all to the good in the matter of team-work at the Versailles conference.

We knew that idealism ran into a snag at the Versailles conference, but till the inside light was turned on, hardly realized what a wreck "practical" diplomacy had made of it.

Of course, if "medicinal" beer is to be sold from soda fountains, it's up to the soda fountain fixture people to get busy and put on three eight-hour shifts.

The Chinese may have fared badly at Versailles, but the more light thrown on the proceedings over there, the more evident it becomes that the satisfaction of having retained their self-respect is theirs.

It will hardly do to say that any woman can commit murder with impunity. To be absolutely safe she should be fairly good looking.

Eggs dropped to eighteen cents wholesale, here in Marion yesterday. If this price or lower holds till the end of the week, the coloring of Easter eggs may be revived. Let us hope that the youngsters get their colored eggs next Sunday.

A lot of people will see method in the latest advance into German territory when they learn that the army of occupation has taken over the breweries in the Ruhr district.

That portion of Mr. Lansing's book, in which he holds it possible that the league-of-nations mandatories make it possible for the allies to take over the colonies of Germany without giving her credit for them in the indemnities assessed against her, will make decidedly interesting reading over in Germany.

The probable reason Mr. Lansing didn't shoot any more holes into the league-of-nations covenant is that he couldn't find any place left in it big enough to make a border for another hole.

Quite a number of papers have editorially criticized the "throngs" who attended the nasty cases at Ardmore, New York and Chicago, yet many of them went out of their way to report the proceedings with the utmost detail, presenting the filth in type to hundreds of thousands where otherwise it would have gone to but scores. If improper to hear, why not improper to read?

THE PASSING OF ARTHUR J. MYERS.

The sudden death of Arthur J. Myers, during the early hours of the morning, came as a shock to his fellow-workers on the Star and brings to them a sense of personal loss from which they will not soon recover. Since his early boyhood he had been connected with the Star, in one capacity or another, and only those who were associated with him during the intervening years know the sum total of all the sterling qualities which he possessed.

Mr. Myers joined the Star force as a carrier boy. As the years passed, he became the office stenographer, bookkeeper and assisted in handling the circulation. Later he had the circulation in charge. From the circulation department, he became assistant advertising manager of the paper, and later took full charge of the advertising. Upon the organization of the Harding Publishing company, he became one of the directorate, and a few years later was elected secretary of the company, which position, in addition to that of advertising manager, he held up to the time of his death.

Those close to Mr. Myers were aware that his heart was not physically good, but little did they imagine any near eventuality such as that of this morning. Only yesterday afternoon he was about the office apparently in the full vigor of young manhood, and was enthusiastically planning with other members of the force for the future. Hence, despite the knowledge which his fellow-workers had regarding his faulty heart action, the shock was as great as that experienced by his many personal and business friends throughout the city, while their sense of loss in his passing is naturally immeasurably greater.

Arthur J. Myers from his earliest connection with the Star force was an indefatigable worker. From the date of his original employment in the office, his entire soul was with the Star. He worked early and late to advance its interests, which, since the organization of the corporation, were his own. Brought up and trained in the office, he was more or less intimate with all its departments, and in time of rush took it as a privilege that he could lend a helping hand wherever help was needed. He never was a mere employe; he always was a worker, and from his first connection with the office to his last day therein his enthusiasm in upbuilding and making bigger and better the Star was without stint or limit.

It is easy to replace a mere employe; it is a matter of extreme difficulty to replace such a man as Arthur J. Myers. The management of the Star and his fellow-workers will long miss the impetus which he daily gave to the business and the association which he brought to the Star.

THE HERALD IS GENEROUS.

In a very clever and somewhat persuasive editorial, the Washington Herald favors the cancellation of debts due from European countries to the United States, under the title, "The Fly in the Ointment," the Herald makes a display of pointing out some of the interests of the United States. It shows that foreign governments owe the United States $9,706,000,000 while Great Britian's credits are only $8,415,000,000, not counting debts owed by her dominions to the mother country. America would sacrifice more than Britain, therefore, by a cancellation of debts.

After setting forth these facts the Herald makes two points that are designed to create a favorable impression of the proposal to cancel the debts. The editor says that world exchange of goods and world industry would have a tremendous impulse toward "normalcy" and, in order to give the impression that the idea of cancellation is in harmony with President Harding's use of that word, the editor says, "We thank thee, Warren, for that word." The Herald also quotes from the Lord's prayer, "Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors," thus appealing to religious sentiment in an effort to create a favorable inclination toward cancellation.

After presenting what it would leave its readers to believe was a fair statement of objections to the cancellation scheme, the Herald says, "Yet it may be wise, as well as noble, for this government to join in this proposal as the world's good angel. It may be practical altruism in that it would revive trade, it would lower exchange rates, it would restore fairly stable financial conditions and so would provide a great market for all our surplus of foods and raw materials."

The unfairness of the Herald's statement of the problem will be readily manifest to any one who will take time to analyze the international situation. The ledger accounts in the financial records of the United States and Great Britain do not tell the whole story. Great Britain has not only accorded reparations from Germany, but was enabled through the provisions of the peace treat and the subsequent actions of the league of nations to extend her influence in Egypt and Mesopotamia and to gain control over German East Africa and German Southwest Africa, the former equal in area and richness of natural resources to the entire southeastern section of the United States. Not one word concerning these acquisitions of Great Britain is found in the Herald's presentation of the cancellation question. Neither, in its search of Scriptures for a quotation to bolster its arguments, did the editor chance upon, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's." Neither did the Herald deem it appropriate to quote from remarks of Mr. Harding indicating his opinion that the European debts to the United States should be paid.

Other important facts concerning the effect of cancellation of European indebtedness are also conspicuous by absence from the Herald's discussion. It fails to remark that if the United States cancels early $10,000,000,000 of European obligations that $10,000,000,000 burden will fall squarely upon the taxpayers of the United States, which means the producers of the country who ultimately bear every tax burden. It is undoubtedly true that cancellation would revive trade for lift us a $10,000,000,000 debt from the people of Europe would relieve them of taxes and enable them to shift their finances to channels of industry, thus assisting them in recapturing or extending their South American, Asiatic and even their North American markets.

LIFE'S VAUDEVILLE.

(By James Hall Naylor)

LOAFING ON THE JOBS.

Why is that so little speed is manifest in the various departments at Washington?

Why is it that so little efficient work, comparatively speaking, is being done?

Because, apparently, it reports be partly true, even, thousands of government employes are literally loafing on their jobs.

They are laying away the hours
They are beating in time.
They are drawing public money
But they are not earning it.

The government should pay its employes good living salaries and wages; and then these employes should earn the money.

The government should render working conditions safe and satisfactory as possible; and then its employes should render commensurate service.

The government should establish a work day of reasonable length; and then its employes should put in every hour of that work day.

But, according to an editorial in the National Republican, such desirable and just conditions do not prevail in Washington City.

I shall proceed to quote from that editorial, and offer my own comments.

"Under the present system the hours for employes in the Washington departments are seven and a half."

Seemingly that work day is of moderate length. Skilled and common laborers, in private enterprises, are working from eight to ten hours daily. Office forces, store clerks and farm hands are working longer hours than are common and skilled laborers; and housekeepers and many professional and business persons are working still more hours daily.

But from this seven-and-a-half-hour day in the Washington department goes—

"A half hour for lunch at noon, and most of the departments have a system of rest periods during the remaining hours, aggregating a half hour additional.

That reduces the work day to six and a half hours—in Washington departments.

But—

"In many offices it takes fifteen minutes to get down to work after the hour of assembling, and fifteen minutes to get ready to quit and get out of the building."

That cuts the work day to six hours—in Washington departments.

But further—

"Every national holiday is celebrated by cessation of work; if the holiday comes on Sunday—Monday is taken."

Indulgent, indeed!

"During the summer months Saturday half holidays are given."

Go to it—the taxpayers pay the freight!

"Thirty days' leave with pay is given each permanent employe—and thirty days' additional sick leave, with pay."

That's right—make it easy for the poor overworked drudges!

But, best of all—

In addition to all this there are many offices in Washington in which many employes spend working hours in reading magazines and newspapers, gossiping and otherwise loafing on the job."

I wonder if they have couches for these tired and timid toilers in Washington! I wonder if they sing 'em to sleep, occasionally!

HOME.

We were criticizing a crooked politician when our friend said: "His home life is hell." Our criticisms stopped. When a man's home life is hell many allowances must be made for him. The highest human incentive a man can have to keep him straight and good is a happy home life. Take that away from him and there is not much incentive left, unless he is an extraordinary man. If there is some one at home, some one of honor and understanding, who shares all his hopes and fears, who sympathizes in all his misfortunes and glories in all his successes, who believes in him and trusts him and encourages him and stands by him, win or lose, a man with a spark of manhood in him is not likely to go wrong permanently or very far. A man who has not this blessed and inspiring influence in his life is to be pitied before being blamed.—Ohio State Journal.

Four walls and a roof may make a house; but a house doesn't make a home. The home is made by those who live in the house. An empty house is a hollow mockery; a house with but one person in it is a burrow, a den—it isn't a home. Such a place has no human associations; consequently, it has no inspirations. A red-blooded man will fight to the death for his home; but no man will battle for his boarding-house.

Unfortunate is the man who has no home; and just as unfortunate, if not more so, is the man who has an unhappy home. If he is wholly to blame for the unhappy condition of his home, he should be condemned and scorned. If he is partly to blame for the unsatisfactory condition of his home, he should be both blamed and pitied. If he is not at all to blame for the deplorable state of his home, he should be pitied.

No man can do his best who hasn't the influence of a good home behind him. What changes a raw house into a real home? Wife and children. They can make a house a home—or they can make it a hell. Of course the husband and father can make the premises a purgatory; and sometimes he does. And when he does—he's a contemptible skunk!

The wife!

I care not if the hour be dawn
Or daylight's close, or whether
The sun shine bright
From morn till night,
In cloudless harvest weather;
One gleam of sunshine from the face
Of her who keeps my dwelling-place—
Is more than all together!

The children! !

When I forsake the busy street
And trail my foot-prints home at night,
A band of naughty pixies meet
Me on the steps, with keen delight.
They bend me down and mount my back,
And—heedless quite of bump or fall!—
They make the floor a racing-track—
And speed me through the entrance hall
Beside a row of drowsy heads
With moistened eyes each night I stand;
And bend and kiss them in their beds,
God bless and keep my pixy band!

WHO SELLS STOLEN CAR TO CITIZEN OF MARION

Comes Now Owner of Machine and Marionite Loses Flivver He Pays $150 for.

Though the efforts of Police Chief J. W. Thompson, Allen E. Moore, of Terre Haute, Indiana, recovered his stolen Ford machine here this morning. Moore came to Marion in company with J. W. Morgan, of Columbus, representative of an insurance company. An effort is now being made to locate Edward Ferrie and his wife, who stole the machine and disposed of it to a local garage man.

Ferrie and his wife were taken in custody by the local police March 4 and detained a night and a day for investigation, as they tried to dispose of the machine for $200 and as it was worth much more it was the supposition that it had been stolen. Ferrie and his wife both claimed they came here from Richmond, Indiana, where they purchased the machine from a man named Moore and that they were driving to Cleveland. Just out of Columbus they said they were held up and relieved of all their cash, $150, and that they were obliged to sell the machine to continue their journey.

What More Could He Do?

Chief Thompson telegraphed to Richmond to verify the statements of the parties, but failing to receive any information to warrant further holding the parties, they were released and later sold the car to a garage employe for $150. Later Chief Thompson learned that the license number was secured by a man named Moore, of Terre Haute, and on taking the matter up with the department of that place, the facts were brought to light.

Moore used the machine for jitney purposes and the night of March 1, about 9:30 o'clock, Ferrie and the woman asked him to take them to West Terre Haute. While he was driving them, Ferrie struck him on the head with a black jack and at the same time the woman covered him with a revolver. He was made to stop the machine and then put up his hands and get out.

Woman Holds Revolver.

After Moore was relieved of his money, amounting to $2.50, the woman kept him covered with the revolver until they had driven a safe distance away. Moore still carries a hole in his head.

Ferrie, who is a foreigner, claimed they belonged in Connecticut. They had two children when they came to Marion and they stopped at a hotel, Ferrie having borrowed $10 from a man at the garage, where they left the machine. Chief Thompson is of the opinion that they were not headed for Cleveland, but for the East.

RECOVERS HER HEALTH AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Wife of Alexandria, Ohio, Farmer Tells How She Regained Her Health After Years of Suffering From Stomach Trouble.

Rebecca Hammond, wife of Asa Hammond, a well-known farmer of Alexandria, O., is another staunch believer in the merits of Redex. She says: "I have been in a miserable condition from stomach trouble for over two years. I would invariably have severe attacks of indigestion after eating and gas would form on my stomach, causing me a great deal of pain and distress.

"I have also had liver trouble and pains across my back and a very sallow complexion; I have been very weak and nervous and altogether in very poor shape. I had no desire for food as nothing agreed with me. I tried about everything in the way of medicine, but not no relief whatever.

"I have taken two bottles of Redex and it has made a wonderful change in me. My stomach trouble has not bothered me at all and my backaches have all done. I have a good appetite and am now eating anything I choose without any gas on my stomach or indigestion. I am stronger and better than I have been for the past two years.

"Certainly trust I will continue to feel as well as I do now. You can rest assured that I will continue taking Redex until I know I am absolutely cured."

Redex can be obtained at Lower's, Schmidt's and all first-class druggists.—Adv.

How to Increase Weight and Put on Solid Stay-There Flesh

What difference does it make to you how EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATES puts good, solid, red-blooded, healthy flesh on your bones as long as it does it and makes you feel 100 per cent. better at the same time?

Evans' Triple Phosphates is something new and something that really does what is claimed for it. Start to take it today with each meal, and in four days you'll know that you are growing more robust and feel stronger and more active. Continue with the treatment faithfully for 10 days more and note with satisfaction that your nerves are growing more responsive; that your ambition does not lag but is cheerfully obedient to your wishes, that a touch of color is appearing in your cheeks and that your occupation ceases to become a task and is a pleasure. Notice that never before in your whole life have you enjoyed living as you do today. Weigh yourself at the end of one month and let the scales tell the story.

Bartlett's Drug Store and all good druggists have agreed to supply thin, run-down, under-developed persons with the understanding that if one month's treatment doesn't give most gratifying results your money is waiting for you. But don't take it even though it accomplishes wonders in nervous digestive troubles and as a general nerve tonic, unless you really want to put on flesh and gain weight.—Adv.

SCHOOL BOARD PROVIDES CREDIT IN DEBATE WORK

Marshall Proposes Incentive and Board Members Approve.

TRIANGULAR DEBATE WIN FORMALLY RECOGNIZED

South Side Community Club Committee Asks for Repairs. Manual Training Room.

Formal recognition was given debate work in the Harding High school and the local school's victory in the recent Marion-Delaware-Bucyrus triangular debate by the board of education at its regular meeting Monday night.

A resolution congratulating the high school faculty and students for the victory in the debate Friday night was passed unanimously. Included in this resolution was the sentiment of the board that debates of this kind be encouraged in the future.

Special attention was directed to the work of Sylvester Larkin, debate coach, and the six debaters and two alternates. Members of the affirmative team, which defeated Delaware here are Miss Doris Bondley, Robert Fitts and Frank D Weeks and Edwin Spohn, alternate. The members of the negative team which debated Bucyrus and won the distinction of securing the only vote of the judges on the negative side of the question are Miss Mary Pennock, Samuel Fyce and Edwin Knachel and Kenneth Smith, alternate.

Half Credit Debate Work.

In recognizing debate work the board passed a resolution providing that one-half credit be allowed for debate work to any student who secures a place on the debate team and participates in an inter-high school debate, not including the alternates. Sixteen credits are now required for graduation and this resolution will result in the successful debaters securing sixteen and one-half credits.

Dr. H R McVay, superintendent of schools, brought to the attention of the board the rally at the high school Monday as the result of the victory Friday night and also stated that K. H Marshall, high school principal, had announced that interclass debates are to be conducted in the school The resolution providing the additional half-credit for debate work was passed on the recommendation of Mr Marshall.

Community Club Committee.

Mrs. C B Weston, Mrs. E H. Cowan and Mrs W G. Lake representing the South Side Community club, presented a petition asking for repairs and improvements at the Lincoln and Pearl buildings. In addition they requested permission to plow, grade and seed the lawn at the Lincoln school and this was granted by common consent.

It was explained to the committee that the board has been working on a policy of annually inspecting the various school buildings and completely repairing the buildings which are most in need of repair rather than haphazardly repairing a room in one building or another. The committee was assured that a petition would receive favorable consideration when the inspection takes place within a short time

Manual Training Room.

Arrangements to prepare a large manual training room in the northeast corner of the basement of the Central Junior High school building on Center street were made. The building-and-grounds committee and the superintendent of janitors were authorized and empowered to do this work. When completed the new manual training room will provide 950 square feet of floor space for the use of the classes in this building

The contract with J Lewis Ellis, architect, for his work in connection with the remodeling of the Central Junior High school building was approved

Purchase of 550 Baldwin's Robinson Crusoe readers at thirty-nine cents a copy for use of the third grade as supplementary reading material, was authorized

It was announced that arrangements will be made to pay the teachers the last of this week, in order that they may receive their salaries before the spring vacation, which will begin next Monday. The board adjourned to meet at noon Monday, April 4, when bids for the $70,000 bond issue will be opened

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Whatsoever Circle Elects.

Mrs. L. L. Strock was hostess to members of the Whatsoever circle King's Daughters, Monday evening at her home on east Church street. Three new members were received in the circle and the following officers installed:

Mrs. Alice Crow, leader; Mrs. L. Strock, first assistant; Miss Anna King, second assistant; Miss Gertrude Hord, secretary; Mrs. Earl Kennedy, treasurer.

Following the installation a social hour was enjoyed.

International Holiness Revival.

Monday night seems to make but little difference in the attendance at the revival services which are being conducted at the International Holiness church, York and Waterloo streets.

Rev. Mr. Kulp delivered the message last night using for his subject "The Great Day of the Wrath." At the end of the sermon the altar was filled with seekers for salvation.

A. H. Johnston is making a great impression upon the congregation with his songs. Ministers and laymen from the different denominations are attending those meetings and receiving much benefit.

The services will continue each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Lutheran Holy Week.

Holy week is being celebrated in the Evangelical Lutheran Emanuel church on south Prospect street with appropriate services.

Wednesday evening at 7:30 a Lenten service will be held. This will be the last of the series of seven services which have been held throughout the Lenten season, at which the pastor, Rev. J. W. Schillinger, has preached a series of sermons on the fifty-third chapter of the prophet Isaiah.

Thursday evening a service will be held at 7:30 o'clock. This will be a preparatory service for holy communion and the celebration of the holy sacrament. It is especially fitting that the Lord's Supper be celebrated on Holy Thursday evening since it is the very evening on which the Savior instituted the sacrament.

Good Friday there will be an appropriate service at 7:30 p. m. This service will be in commemoration of the Savior's death and burial.

Easter Sunday the preparatory service will be held at 8:45 a. m. At 10:30 the regular Easter service will be held. The pastor will preach an Easter sermon, and holy communion will be celebrated. At all of these services Emanuel's choir will render appropriate music.

Easter Sunday at 7:30 p. m. an Easter cantata entitled, "Triumphant Life," will be rendered by Emanuel's choir. There are twelve numbers in this cantata, describing the events from the burial of Jesus to His resurrection and appearance to His disciples. The solo parts will be rendered by Miss Anna Heyde, Miss Elsie Ackerman, Mrs. Ralph Twigg, Miss Elsie Roecker, Mr. William Ackerman and Mr. Harry Kull.

Literary Guild Elects.

The following officers were elected at the meeting of the Literary guild Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. K. Brown, of Girard avenue; Mrs. Clement Friel, president; Mrs. H. K. Brown, vice president; Mrs. George Fies, secretary; Mrs. Cloyd Lindsay, treasurer. Miss Sylvia Cellars, Mrs. Stewart Vermillion and Mrs. Frank Morral were elected to serve on the executive committee. Mrs. Ray Merchant was appointed to serve on the health committee; Mrs. M. A. Mickley, civic; Mrs. Howard Jacoby, finance; Mrs. W. B. Strayer, art; Mrs. Frank Edmondson, music; Mrs. Carl Watrous, legislative; Mrs. Henry Kraner, social. Mrs. George T. Geran was elected pianist and Mrs. H. L. Topliff, critic. Mrs. Earl Kellogg was elected patroness and Mrs. Ray Merchant, reporter. Mrs. O. V. Roby was enrolled as a new member of the association, and Mrs. F. H. Wiley, of Barberton, and Mrs. John Guthery were guests.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. M. A. Mickley, of south Vine street, and will be a luncheon and sewing for the health nurse. The guild will meet the first and third Monday of each month.

Trinity Baptist Revival.

"The great and crying sin of this age is the rejection of Jesus Christ," declared Rev. George M. Landis to the large audience that attended Trinity Baptist church last evening to hear this sermon on "Unsaved when Jesus Comes." "If Jesus should return this night to claim His own," he continued, "the condition of those who have rejected Him would be hopeless.

"With the withdrawal of the church, there is little doubt that the Holy Spirit will also go and that lawlessness will take its place. This lawlessness will have a head in the Anti-Christ.

"The people who have rejected Him have had an adequate opportunity to be saved. They have willfully and deliberately rejected Him. The cause of this rejection is a love of sin; moral rather than intellectual difficulty.

"These people will be deceived by the anti-Christ, and in some sense God send or permits this delusion as a judgment for their rejection in His sight.

"This delusion will be increased by the miracles of the anti-Christ which will be so great that they will actually believe a lie. That they all might be damned who believe not the truth."

The sermon his evening will be an object lesson to be absorbed. The service will open promptly at 7:30 p. m.

If is not only a question of how you look and feel—the scales and tape measure tell their own story. A two weeks' test will surprise you. Ask your druggist today.

IMPORTANT—While the amazing health-value of VITAMON has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, nervous troubles, anaemia, indigestion, dizziness, sallow skin, poor complexion and a generally weakened, rundown condition, it should not be used by anyone who objects to having their weight increased to normal. Holding A Husband

BY ADELE GARRISON.

I followed L[illegible] to the top of the rear stairway, but even as she had suggested what she had to deal with the woman was too disturbed Katie, the [illegible] was [illegible] the next [illegible] proper

There was resentment in [illegible] jangled nerves in the click of Lillian's heels as she descended the stairs, the crispness of her voice as she unlocked the door, opening it, however only the length of the [illegible] upon all the outside

Good afternoon she said coolly May I ask your errand? The maid is a very excitable person and I have been unable to understand what you wish

When Lillian assumes that air of cool detachment it is a brave soul indeed who ventures to cross swords with her But the woman outside was evidently too dumb to be cowed by any manner I heard her gasp and splutter however before she spoke

'Ask my errand' she repeated shrilly I think it's about time somebody here was asking my errand' All I am is the wife of the man who bought this property, and I naturally want to keep an eye on it Hen-ry! Hen-ry!'—she evidently summoned the other half of the marital sketch from its investigation of the lawn—'Come here and tell this Mrs Graham—'

'Pardon' Lillian's voice was as creamy and chilly as frozen custard But you are mistaken I am not Mrs Graham'

'Who are you, then, and what are you doing here?' the woman demanded rudely 'And where is Mrs Graham'

'I am Mrs Graham's representative her best friend,' Lillian replied 'Mrs Graham cannot possibly be disturbed today She is exceedingly hurt and not very well'

'I don't want to see her, goodness knows!' the woman replied 'But I do want to see the inside of this house and find out what shape it's in There's been some monkey business going on that's a cinch, from that mess in the kitchen It wasn't like that when the Grahams were down South Not that it was then my style of keeping a house—but then, you don't find many as particular as I am if I do say it as shouldn't'

I hoped Katie was not listening to this tirade, or that if she was she would miss the slighting reference to her housekeeping In her present mood, Katie was fully capable of rushing down the stairs and staging a riot in which the feminine half of the new ownership might lose some of her hair. There was no sound from her room, however, and I listened intently for Lillian's reply

'You will have every opportunity to view the house,' she said coldly, 'upon the date set in the deed for the transfer of ownership I think it is the first of May Until then, I am afraid you will have to content yourself with an outside view'

'Do you mean to tell me, you impudent thing that I can't get in my own house' Why, I'll go and get a policeman this minute and break down the door' Henry!'

Henry's voice—or one that I assumed but be his—broke into the conversation, but he evidently was not as rabid as his wife, or had a better knowledge of the laws governing the situation, for his voice was only mildly expostulatory. I could distinguish nothing he said, however, for he belonged to the class of people who "mumble their words" Lillian's answer was prompt.

"If your wife had approached us, sir, in any courteous manner, I have no doubt that Mrs Graham would have been glad to appoint a day when you could see the house. But as it is, I shall advise her very strongly to stand upon her legal rights in the matter Your wife is ill-advised if she does not know that there is no possible authority for her entrance even into the grounds unless by the permission of the Grahams Especially—' Lillian paused significantly—'as the purchase money has not yet been paid down'"

'Come on, Henry We won't take their old house "We don't have to," the other woman said sullenly

'Shall I take that decision to Mrs Graham?" Lillian asked sweetly, with a clever assumption of ingenuous eagerness. "She will be most relieved to hear it, for she only consented reluctantly to Mr. Graham's wish to sell And she has been having a great deal of trouble in finding a house'

"There Henry' What did I tell you?' the woman cried excitedly, 'I knew that there was some monkey business going on They're just cooking up something so they can get the house back again No,' to Lillian, "you don't need to tell her nothing of the sort. We'll take the house all right, and believe me if everything ain't just as it was when we looked at it we'll have the law on 'em if it takes every cent we've got"

I heard her indignant feet going down the steps, then the closing of the kitchen door, and knew that Lillian would be on the stairs in another minute

For a dismayed, disloyal second I wondered if she had improved things or made them worse by her colloquy with the new owners

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr James P Allen suffered for years with rheumatism Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work

He finally decided after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the new agents Schmidt & Co. and Carl G. Ungericht's Drug Stores have been appointed agents for Allenthue in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money to all who state they received no benefit.—Adv.

Sloan's Liniment Pain's enemy

TO REDUCE DANGEROUS VARICOSE VEINS

People who have swollen veins or bunches should not wait until they reach the bursting point, which means much suffering and loss of time, but should at once secure from any reliable druggist a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength).

By using this powerful, yet harmless germicide treatment improvement is noticed in a few days and by its regular use swollen veins will return to their normal size, and sufferers will cease to worry. Moone's Emerald Oil treatment is used by physicians and in hospitals and is guaranteed to accomplish results or money returned.

It reduces all kinds of enlarged glands, goiters and wens and is used exclusively in many large factories as an unfailing first aid to the injured antiseptic. Generous sample on receipt of 15 cents, silver or stamps. International Laboratories, Rochester, N. Y. Your druggist Carl G. Ungericht, can supply you.—Adv.

Solved the Problem

"I was almost distracted with stomach trouble, gas and colic attacks and didn't know what to do. I had tried everything I heard of, and the doctor's medicine did not help me. A friend told me about Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and it has solved the problem, as I can now eat anything and have no distress." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Schmidt & Co., and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT, IS FIERY, ITCHY OR ROUGH, USE SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.—Adv.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you get a large bottle of this famous recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost. Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Adv.

CARIS' BEDTIME STORIES

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FUNNY UMBRELLA.

[BY HOWARD R. GARIS.]

[Copyright 1921, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

"Look out! Don't take that one," called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one morning, as Uncle Wiggily was starting from the hollow stump bungalow to look for his daily adventure.

"Don't take that what?" the bunny gentleman asked his muskrat lady housekeeper.

"That umbrella," was the answer, for Mr. Longears had stopped in the hall and was taking from the stand an umbrella to keep off the rain. "That's a funny one," said Nurse Jane.

"Well, I like funny umbrellas," Uncle Wiggily replied.

Then, before the muskrat lady could stop him, or explain why the umbrella was funny, Uncle Wiggily picked it up and hopped away, saying:

"I'm in a hurry to meet Grandfather Goosey Gander. He and I are going to the movies. He doesn't mind the rain, but I do. Even if it is only a spring shower it isn't good for my rheumatism."

"Well, that funny umbrella will not be very good for your rheumatism, either," said Nurse Jane, as she shut the door after the bunny gentleman. "You'll wish you hadn't taken it before the day is over."

And, surely enough, Uncle Wiggily was not more than half way to Grandpa Goosey's house than it began to rain. It had looked like a shower when the bunny started out, and now it did more than look—it poured!

"Ha! It's a good thing I have an umbrella," said Uncle Wiggily. "I don't see anything very funny about it, though. Nurse Jane must have made a mistake."

He hoisted the umbrella, but, no sooner was it held over his tall, silk hat, shedding off the rain, than, all of a sudden, down the umbrella snapped, closing up, pinching the bunny's paw and letting him get all wet.

"Whoa, there, January!" cried the bunny. "I guess I didn't fasten you up right. The catch slipped."

Once again he hoisted the umbrella, but he had not hopped many steps before down it slipped again, pinching his paw worse than before.

"Dear me!" exclaimed the bunny,

"Whoa there, January!" cried the bunny.

as he felt the rain trickling down the back of his neck. "This must be what Nurse Jane meant when she said it was a 'funny umbrella.' It won't stay open, though, to tell the truth, I don't call it funny! I'm getting soaked!"

He had picked the worst umbrella of all in his hollow stump bungalow. And as he hopped along, the rain-shield continued to slump shut every once in a while, as the spring slipped.

"Well, I'll soon be at Grandpa Goosey's and then I'll borrow a better one if he has it," thought Mr. Longears, when, all of a sudden, he heard a voice behind him saying:

"If you don't mind I'll walk along with you and keep out of the rain!" And up sneaked the old Woozie Wolf.

"Oh!" gasped the bunny, taken by surprise.

"You didn't expect to see me, I know," said the Wolf, "but I just got hungry for ears and——"

"Bing!" down slumped the umbrella, the ribs hitting the Wolf on the head.

"I say! What's the idea?" snapped the Wolf, angrily.

"Oh, it's just this funny umbrella," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "It goes shut every once in a while. Don't mind it."

"I sha'n't," answered the Wolf. "I'm thinking how good your ears will taste when I nibble them."

Uncle Wiggily said nothing. He walked along a little farther holding the umbrella over himself and the bad chap when, all of a sudden, down it plumped again, one rib hanging the Wolf on the nose.

"Oh, I say!" cried thee Woozie fellow. "This is no fun."

"Nurse Jane said it was a funny umbrella," spoke the bunny, putting it up again. "However, it may not happen for a long time again."

But it did. Hardly had the Wolf and Mr. Longears walked ten more steps before: "Slops!" Down went the umbrella again, spattering water all over.

"Oh, I say! I'm not going to stand this, you know!" howled the Wolf for he was banged on the head again. "I don't call this a bit funny! I'll wait until you get an umbrella that doesn't close up every once in a while," and away he ran, not hurting Mr. Longears at all.

"That suits me!" laughed the bunny, and then he soon reached Grandpa Goosey's, borrowed a good umbrella and he and Mr. Gander went to the movies and had a nice time. So this teaches us that even a paper of pins has feelings.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 teaspoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

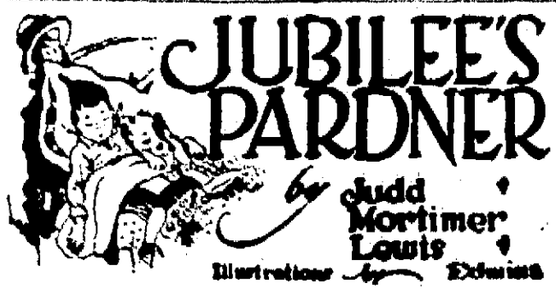
JUBILEE'S PARDNER



by Judd Mortimer Lewis

Illustrations by Edwards

Banty has got to sleep in the house all by himself tomorrow night. His father is a painter and paints houses and he has got a job quite a ways off and Banty's mother is going to go to where he is at tomorrow and is not going to be back till day after tomorrow and Banty has told her that he is not afraid to stay in the house by himself, so he is going to do it. He said he is not scairt.

I would not want to stay in a house by myself, and I never will while I have got Jubilee. A dog is good for a lot of things. My grandfather says that Indians eat dogs and eat them bark and all. I do not believe him. Frenchy says that a man stayed in a house all by himself one time and he saw a ghost and when he got out in the morning his hair was as white as snow. I think no one ought to stay in a house all night by himself unless he is baldheaded. I bet no ghost could make a baldheaded man's hair turn white.

He looked at me and said mebby his mother would let him stay all night with some of us if we would ast him, but I did not ast him.

I asted my grandfather if he ever stayed in a house all night by himself and he said he did once but he never would again. He said that was how he got his game leg. He said he heard something groan up in the garret and then he went up there and listened, and then he heard it groan down in the cellar, so then he went down there and he never did find out what was groaning, but he stepped in a rat hole with his leg and went down in it up to his hip. And he said the rat had dug its hole crooked like a corkscrew and when he took his leg out it was crooked. But he is a liar. His leg is not like a corkscrew. It is only lowlegged whilst his other leg is straight.

Banty has told all the girls at school that he is going to stay in his house all night by himself and Younise says he is very brave. I told her that it is not the fella that is going to do something that is brave but the fella that has done something. And then she wanted to know if I would dast stay in a house by myself all night and I said I would dast stay in two houses by myself.

I snuck out over the roof when I had went to bed and me and the bunch went to the stink factory and the night watchman told us some ghost stories and we all had to go home with Banty. He looked at me and said mebby his mother would let him stay all night with some of us if we would ast him, but I did not ast him. I would of if he had not made Younise think he was so brave.

I told him if he was afraid he could come to my house and I would stay in his house, but he said he is not afraid. I knew he would say that. I told him mebby someone was murdered in his house one time and if they was they would come and lead him to where their bones are hid, but he said he does not want any bones. He has got a funny father and mother I think. I went to bed early but I was thinking about it and couldn't sleep for a long time.

JUST try this new breakfast on them! Watch them eat. They go for Purity Oats because it's so wonderfully good.

Don't tell them that it's plain rolled oats. That wouldn't be true. Purity Oats is absolutely new. It's totally different. It's better than any rolled oats they ever imagined. Why, its flavor is nutlike,—yes, nutlike. You know how delicious that must be.

Of course, you want them to eat lots and lots of Purity Oats. It is your most economical breakfast. It cooks right in less time. Every spoonful contains the unequalled nourishment in the oat grain—all of which is developed to a new high point by the exclusive Purity process. Your grocer carries Purity Oats in hygienic cartons. Young Girls Need Care

FROM the age of twelve a girl needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time.

If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter make life easier for her.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions. It can be taken in safety by any woman, young or old.

Read How These Mothers Helped Their Daughters

Guttenberg, N. J.—"My daughter was all run down and had fainting spells often, had a bad complexion, and suffered at her monthly periods. Her grandmother had been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the Change of Life, and got a bottle of it for her. She began to improve with the first bottle and took five in all and was entirely restored to health. For a time she had not been able to attend school, but she does now. She recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to her friends and I give you permission to publish this letter as a testimonial." —Mrs. CATHARINE McGLOVE, 300 36th St., Guttenberg, N. J.

Roxbury, Mass.—"My daughter is a schoolgirl and she suffered very much with irregular periods, painful cramps and dizzy headaches. She was sometimes as long as three months between her periods and when they came she was not able to do her school home lessons because she could not even sit up. A copy of one of your little books was left in my letter-box and she began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for her troubles. She is now in good health, is regular and can help me with the housework when not in school." —Mrs. Veronica O. Sevigney, 74 Bragdon St., Roxbury, Mass.

Worthy Opponent.

New York, March 22.—Rocky Kansas is the iron man of the lightweight division. More, he is a worthy opponent for Benny Leonard, champion of the 125-pound class, and richly deserves a chance at the title. This is the verdict of Gotham boxing fans today, following Kansas' victory over Willie Jackson in a colorful twelve-round bout at Madison Square garden.

A Meeting Tonight.

ARTHUR J. MYERS DIES; HEART DISEASE VICTIM

Advertising Manager of the Star Taken Early Today.

HAD BEEN WITH PAPER SINCE HIS BOYHOOD

Member of All Local Masonic Bodies—Widow and Two Girls.

Arthur James Myers, advertising manager of the Star and secretary and director of the Harding Publishing company, died suddenly of heart trouble at his residence, No 536 Girard avenue, this morning at 3:15 o'clock.

Monday Mr. Myers was at the office all day and seemed in his usual health when he retired last night. About 2:45 o'clock this morning Mrs Myers was awakened by hearing his moan. After talking to him a few moments she realized the seriousness of his condition and hastened to summon help. He died before a physician arrived. He was conscious to the last. Mr. Myers had suffered from spells with his heart at different times since he had an attack of influenza two years ago.

With Star Since Boyhood.

Mr. Myers was forty-four years of age and had been with the Star since boyhood, starting as a carrier boy. Later he became interested in the work and, his father having died when he was a boy, he left school in the grammar grades and took up a course at Marion Business college. He entered the Star office as a stenographer and later had charge of the circulation. He was advanced to assistant advertising manager and about fifteen years ago became manager of the advertising department.

In Grocery Business.

For twenty-one years Mr. Myers was in partnership with his brother-in-law, C. Z. Zachman, in the grocery firm of Zachman & Myers. The first of last year he retired from the business, disposing of his interest to Mr. Zachman, who had always had the active management of the business.

Fraternally, Mr. Myers was a member of all the local Masonic bodies and of Marion Lodge, No. 492, Knights of Pythias, being a past chancellor commander of the latter. He was greatly interested in church work, having been a member of the Calvary Evangelical church, of which he was president of the board of stewards. He was also affiliated with the Marion club, the Marion Advertising club and of the chamber of commerce.

Born in Crawford County.

Mr. Myers was born in Crawford county, July 27, 1876, a son of Abraham and Christina Myers. He was married October 24, 1906, to Miss Gertrude Zachman, who survives with their two children, Dorothy, aged twelve years, and Jane, aged four. They were just preparing to move into a new home April 1.

The funeral will be held at the Calvary Evangelical church Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, following services at the home at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. C. L. Allen will conduct the services which will be in charge of Marion Lodge, No. 70, Free and Accepted Masons, with Knights Templars escort.
